To Whom This May Concern,

Mr Andrei Cursaru was an intern for the OPCW from July – October 2017, supporting the activities of the OPCW's Public Affairs Branch. During this time, he became an indispensable part of the team due to his vigorous work ethic, creative abilities, problem solving skills and ability to manage multiple deadlines in a high-stress environment.

In particular, Mr Cursaru:

- Analysed and developed a proposed structure for the multi-lingual sections for our website redesign.
- Fully optimised our Brandwatch account, which is our social media monitoring and management tool. He created widgets that allowed us to properly measure campaign performance and used the data extracted from the tool to perform a deep analysis of our social media performance and audience, and managed the backfilling of missing data from our account.
- Acted as a guide for the public during our International Open Day event

In closing, Mr Cursaru is an extremely hard worker and is very responsive to coaching and feedback. He was a quick learner in adapting to new software and an ever-changing work environment. I am pleased to recommend him to your company or organisation.
